I'm Kate Reese, a web designer and developer with a passion for conjuring outstanding websites that demand your attention. I like websites that are interesting and easy to use. And this is how I design them – each one engaging, with a high degree of usability.

I have a talent for both design and development, with strengths in HTML, CSS, AS3, PHP and MySQL. My organisational skills are second-to-none – successful management of part-time study, part-time freelance work and full-time parenting responsibilities for the duration of my Diploma of Digital Media (2009–2010) is proof of this. I thrive on problem solving and welcome opportunities to learn and push the boundaries of my knowledge.

Skillset

Software – Photoshop, Illustrator, Flash, Dreamweaver, Soundbooth, Media Encoder and Basecamp
